

2015 Teacher of the Year

Mrs. Shelly Roth
Bay City Christian School, Green Bay, WI

Throughout our Christian schools in Wisconsin are a multitude of faithful servants quietly serving God by serving others. They look neither for fame nor for riches, but for the eternal reward of hearing the Lord welcome them by declaring, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Their faithfulness is evident by the hours spent making sure the classroom is perfect, by thoroughly preparing each lesson to meet the daily objective, by urging each child to progress according to his or her academic ability, and by bathing everything in prayer for God's blessing and the student's spiritual growth. This is the testimony of Shelly Roth.

The Alaskan native went to Bob Jones University where she majored in Home Economics. Her intention was not to teach in a Christian school but to minister alongside of her husband in his ministry. She began teaching after several years of being a pastor's wife. For seventeen years now, elementary students have benefited academically and spiritually from her classroom ministry. If you watch Shelly, you will observe late nights of dedicated preparation, sweet interactions with her students in which biblical principles are consistently presented into every aspect of their lives, and also hours of prayer for every student. Shelly truly cares for her students, and it is evident every day.
