WACS State Competition in Academics and Fine Arts

The 2011-12 State Competition Manual was presented at the Educators' Conference at the end of September. If you did not pick up a manual at the Educator's Conference, it is now available for download on-line at www.wacschools.org/competition-manual.php. There was additional information added regarding the Junior High Bible Memory Schedule since the conference. The manual on-line does have the updates already in it. However, the updated Bible Memory Schedule is also available as a separate download for those who already received the manual. Registration forms will be sent out and made available on-line the first part of December. We are also working on updating the judges sheets for the elementary and junior high. The Senior High uses the AACCS National Competition Judges Sheets.
